WORD COUNTS AND LETTER COUNTS VERIFIED BY
https://text-toolz.com/text-tools/word-and-character-counter

100-LETTER SENTENCE - 20 WORDS:
To make this sentence required locating just the right words that let us utilize all of our alphabet’s twenty-six letters.

1000-LETTER ESSAY - 200 WORDS:
Did you know that not all handwriting styles are created equal? Variations may have extraordinary impact on outcomes. Let”s see how. This essay contains all the lowercase letters of our ABC, as well as a few uppercase letters.

Follow the handwriting as it happens, while checking our onscreen dashboard. You may notice unexpected things!

Note: Just to allow objective comparisons, these onscreen pens are traveling at a constant, equal rate. Within and between every stroke, each pen is moving the same distance over time. Keeping a constant stroke speed lets us see for ourselves how the styles of handwriting — the motions of theor joins and letterforms — influence outcomes.

So, how can the results be what we see them to be? Did you start feeling just a tiny bit surprised, even after only a few lines, as one writer visibly pulled ahead? Maybe you’re rethinking some old beliefs.

It’s no puzzle. Features of conventional cursive handwriting styles strikingly increase the time that is needed to write letters and unite them into words. Going along the movement pathways required by conventional cursive means that the pen must journey significantly further than in completing the shorter, straighter paths of italic cursive.